

Artificial intelligence is widely used in education to support learning, automated assessment, and student engagement.