

Artificial intelligence is widely used in education to support personalized learning, automated assessment, and improved student engagement.